

Addendum to Braille Formats
Principles of Print-to-Braille
Transcription, 2016

January 23, 2020

This addendum brings the language related to copyright law in alignment with the current U.S. Copyright Act that was changed due to the Marrakesh Treaty.

Change the sections included below to read as follows:

2.3.1 The U.S. Copyright Act Section 121 requires material reproduced in accessible format to include the copyright notice in the original publication (see Formats, §2.3.6d) and a notice about unauthorized further reproduction or distribution (see Formats, §2.3.6e). Place a print copy of the braille title page before the braille title page and include these required notices on both pages.

2.3.6 Publisher and Copyright Segment

- e. Reproduction Notices. Under amended provisions of the U.S. Copyright Act, the permission of publishers or copyright owners is not required for an authorized entity to transcribe or distribute in the U.S. a previously published literary work or a previously published musical work that has been fixed in the form of text or notation in accessible formats for exclusive use by eligible persons.

- (1) Insert the following required reproduction notice on the next line after the copyright notice:

Any further reproduction or distribution other than in an accessible format is an infringement.

- (2) If required, the Canadian reproduction statement is found on the second title page. (See Formats, §2.4.2c, Second and Subsequent Title Pages.)

Exception: An authorized organization or agency must obtain the publisher's permission for transcription of the following:

- (3) Computer programs, except for those portions that are in conventional human language (including descriptions of pictorial works) and displayed to users in the ordinary course of using the computer programs.
- (4) Standardized, secure, or norm-referenced tests and related testing material.

Note: In the U.S. any unauthorized organization, government agency without a specific mission for services for the blind, or unaffiliated transcriber must obtain permission of the publisher or copyright owner before beginning the transcription of any text. Sponsoring organizations, agencies, and transcribers in other countries similarly are responsible for determining and observing all applicable copyright laws.
